

Parental Views - Drama

Responses from the Department

The overwhelmingly positive handwritten comments are encouraging and help us to see that a number of pupils feel happy secure and enjoy the subject, which is in keeping with our department ethos.

We will look into providing KS3 students with a booklet about the curriculum at the start of each year to take home to parents. This would explain the topics covered and the expected learning. A section would focus on the transferable skills promoted in Drama.

Self-learning activities have been provided in the form of extension tasks for pupils across the years on the extended learning section of moodle. The course booklet could explain this.

The Department has been trialling homework with Year 7 as until recently drama only featured once a fortnight at KS3. From next year we hope to introduce homework to Year 7 and Year 9.
